

Asad Imran is working as Senior Manager in Sustainable agriculture programme of WWF-Pakistan. Having a M.Sc. Hons in Agricultural Economics and a masters degree in Rural Social Development from University of Reading, UK as a Chevening Scholar, he has expertise in planning, management and execution of projects aimed at natural resource management, climate change mitigation /adaptation and value chain development of agricultural commodities for poverty alleviation and rural development.