

Eight Open Session

Lorena Ruiz

Lorena Ruiz has served as Economist at the International Cotton Advisory Committee (ICAC) since July 2014. She is responsible for forecasting cotton prices, projecting global and regional textile demand, and conducting policy and market analyses. She also serves as Manager of the ICAC's Expert Panel on Social, Environmental and Economic Sustainability of Cotton Production.

Andreas ENGELHARDT

Andreas Engelhardt is the author and publisher of “The Fiber Year”, an annual textile yearbook delivering a world survey on natural and manmade fibers as well as nonwovens. The publication was founded in 2001 and is now in its 16th edition. Before founding “The Fiber Year”, Andreas worked in strategic market development, market intelligence and lobbying, assisting and participating in customer events and delivering presentations at conferences around the world in leading fiber companies in Germany, the Netherlands and Switzerland.

Mohammad Ilyas Sarwar

Mr. Sarwar is currently Scientific Officer at the Central Cotton Research Institute at the Pakistan Central Cotton Committee. Previously Mr. Sarwar was a Ginning specialist at World Wide Fund for Nature (Pakistan), as well as assistant spinning master at Sapphire Textile Mills. Mr. Sarwar recently published “Impact of Climatic Behavior on Cotton Fibre Traits” in the International Journal of Research Volume.